

CALL FOR PAPERS

Dear colleagues!

We would like to invite you to the 12th international scientific conference in Translation Studies for PhD students and young researchers. This year's title is Tradition and Innovation in Translation Studies Research XII: Bridging Cultures and Communities through Translation Studies. The conference will be held on 29th and 30th January 2024 at the Faculty of Arts, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra in an online form. We are privileged to have Prof. dr. Luc van Doorslaer and Dr. Minako O'Hagan as our keynote speakers. This year's programme will also include a novel element in the form of a discussion with translator Adrian Probst, who is striving to make the profession more visible internationally.

The aim of the conference is to provide an opportunity for the participants to present their research from various fields of their scientific interests within Translation Studies. We welcome topics from across the entire range of TS – from didactics of translation (and interpretation), through history and translation criticism, non-literary translation and terminology, to translation technology and audiovisual translation, reflecting on e.g. diversity and potential of Translation Studies, current trends, and outlooks in translation and interpreting.

Participation fee: 70 EUR

IMPORTANT DATES:

Deadline for applications and submission of abstracts: 22nd December 2023

Please send the completed application form along with the abstracts and a short bio to tai.conference.cpu@gmail.com

Languages of the conference: English, Slovak, Czech

Interpreting (to and from English) will be available throughout the event.
